

Working as a Screening Officer for One of CATSA's Partners

CATSA values its partnership with contracted security firms, who employ screening officers. Together, we ensure critical elements of the air transportation system are secure - from passenger screening to baggage screening.

All screening officers in Canada are security cleared and rigorously trained on a program built on the principle of continuous improvement. The classroom, on the job and computer and web-based training never stops and evaluations – both written and practical – are conducted frequently. Screening officers at Canada's airports must be CATSA certified.

The role of screening officer is an important part of ensuring the security of air travellers, airline staff, airport employees and others who work in and travel through our country's airports. Screening officers are also vital to Canada's overall security measures, working as part of a team that keeps our country, our citizens and our skies safe.

The Canadian Air Transport Security Authority

is a Crown corporation responsible for securing specific elements of the air transportation system – from passenger and baggage screening to screening airport workers. CATSA is mandated with protecting the public through effective and efficient screening of air travellers and their baggage. Our goal is to provide a professional, effective and consistent level of security service across the country, at or above the standards set by Transport Canada.

Excellence, Satisfaction, Respect

Are you looking for a vibrant and dynamic work environment that inspires growth and promotes excellence? The Canadian Air Transport Security Authority (CATSA) is a Crown corporation that supports and values its employees by fostering a corporate culture that:

- Encourages creativity and innovation;
- Rewards competence and team work;
- Promotes and cultivates work/life balance; and
- Remunerates with a competitive salary, performance pay and a comprehensive employee benefit plan.

CATSA's unique culture is a mix between that found in a public service organization and that of a private sector company, and reflects the rich and varied backgrounds that our employees bring with them. Its small size also creates a unique and congenial work environment that promotes idea sharing and direct interaction with senior management.

CATSA has a diverse workforce represented by men and women from different backgrounds located in our headquarters in Ottawa and our regional offices across Canada's major airports. We strive towards hiring Canada's most talented and skilled individuals to help us protect the air travelling public and as part of our core business strategy we ensure that programs and policies foster diversity and inclusion. As an equal opportunity employer we encourage women, aboriginal people, members of visible minorities and persons with disabilities to apply for employment.
