Respectful and Inclusive Work Environment

The Canadian Red Cross is deeply committed to its humanitarian mission and creating respectful and inclusive work environments for the people we serve and our personnel. We strive to develop a diverse organization that is representative of the people it serves and fosters a culture of inclusion and belonging.

We recognize that more can and should be done to address and prevent harassment, abuse, discrimination, and exploitation in all forms. As a matter of practice, the Canadian Red Cross works continuously to improve its policies and procedures to prevent the occurrence of such incidents, such as being a signatory to Cooperation Canada's Anti-Racism Framework. Our Diversity, Inclusion, and Belonging program, led by our Senior Director of Diversity, Inclusion and Belonging, is working to create an environment where all Canadian Red Cross staff and volunteers can thrive — at a systemic, procedural, and individual level.
